

Now seeking expressions of interest

National Director of EfM

EfM (Exploring Faith Matters, formerly Education for Ministry) is a program that helps people explore scripture, church history and tradition, culture, and reflect theologically on personal experience in small groups so they can live out their faith more fully. For more information visit: www.efmaustralia.org/home

The Anglican Diocese of Gippsland is taking over the EfM Licence for Australia, and is now seeking a part time National Director. Ideally the successful applicant would be based in Gippsland with a part time local ministry.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS:

- Experience in theological education, ministry formation, and / or familiarity with EfM, with appropriate educational qualifications
- Strong administrative skills, including use of online learning platforms, organisational ability, and basic financial management
- Technological skills to maintain and promote EfM online, including social media promotion
- Training skills to upskill and support trainers and mentors, and provide ongoing training
- Excellent communication skills to recruit and support mentors, and liaise with EfM USA, clergy, and lay people
- Willingness to travel to promote, support, and develop the program across dioceses and other church traditions
- Initiative to grow and develop the EfM program into a new phase with its revised curriculum

For further information or to apply:

Email Bishop Richard Treloar at: bishop@gippslandanglicans.org.au

Applications should include a CV and cover letter, and close on 31 October

