How can the Registry Office help you?

The main role of the Registry Office and staff is to work in partnership with our parishes and clergy to resource and support the mission and ministry of the Anglican Church across the diocese. The Registry provides administrative support to the Bishop, coordinates the Diocesan Synod along with assistance for the Bishop-in-Council, and other Diocesan committees.

The small and dedicated team delivers on an enormous volume of work related to insurance and property issues; stipends and leave; copyright and legal issues; financial management and Trusts administration; safe ministry checks and licencing for clergy and lay readers; and diocesan-wide communications. Our reception receives many calls each year from enquirers wanting to be directed to a parish for baptisms, weddings, funerals and pastoral assistance, as well as hundreds of calls from parish officers and clergy seeking answers to questions and assistance.

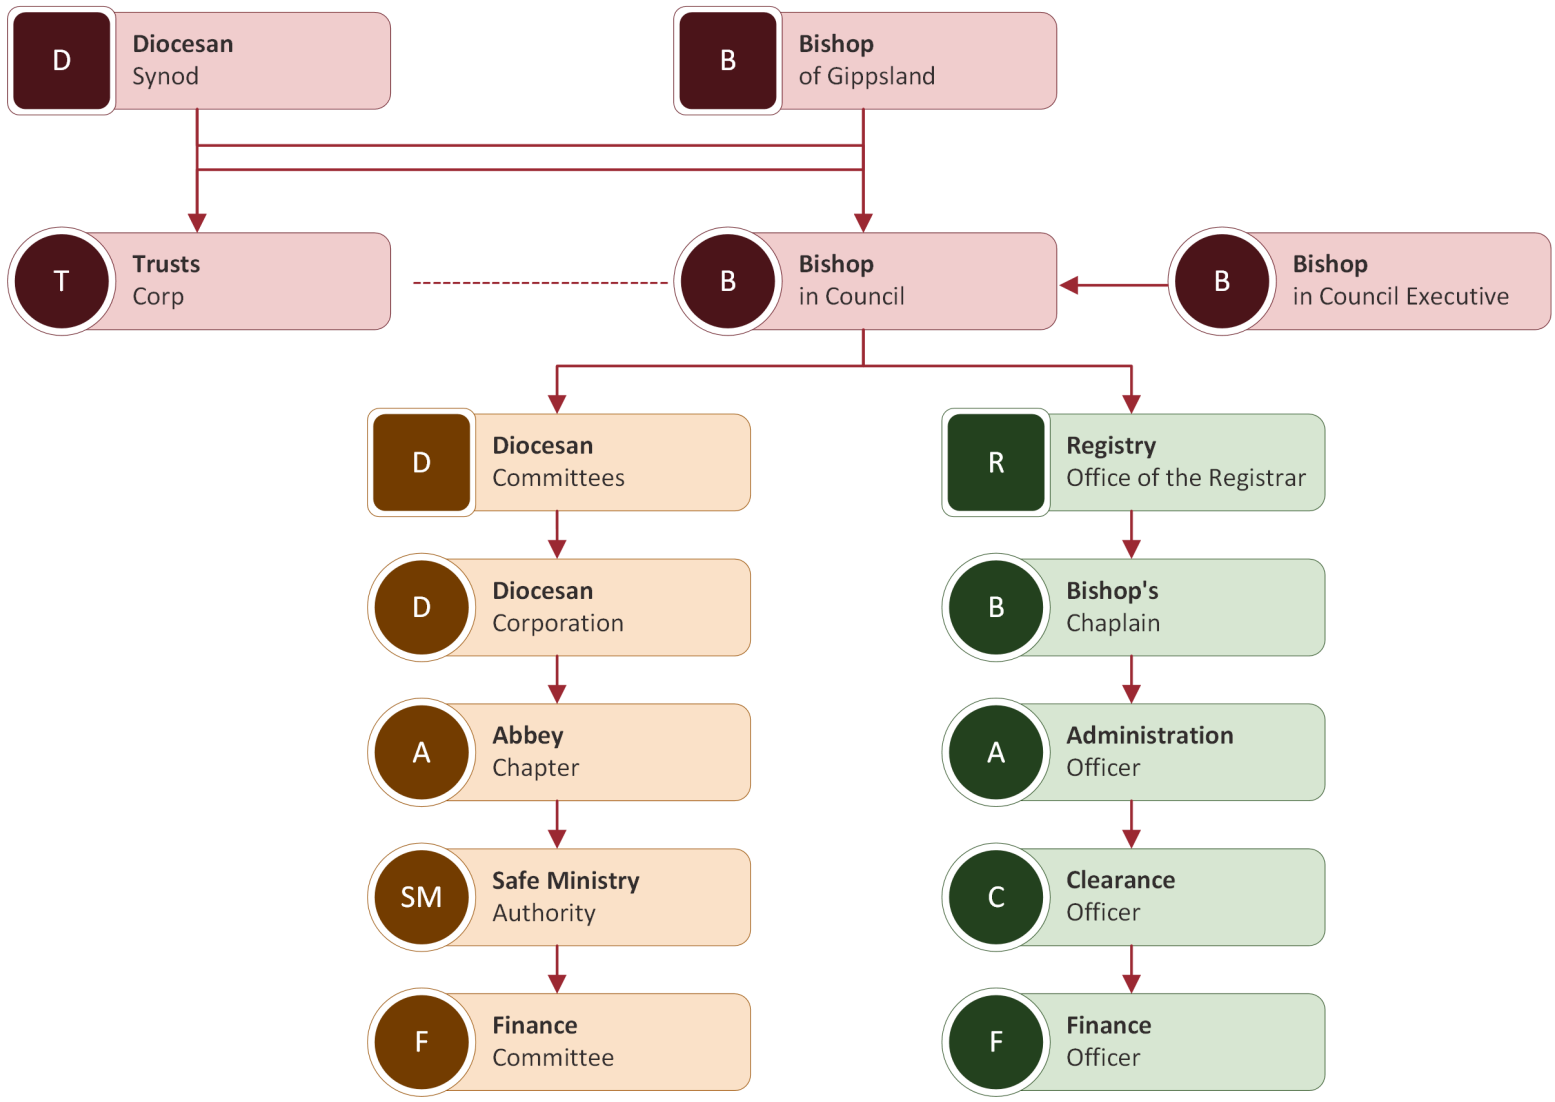

The staff assist in the co-ordination and administration of diocesan programs such as clergy professional development events (Conference and Retreat), Synod, Diocesan events, and other special occasions.

The Registry Office acts as the communications hub for all of us, and is able to convey information that staff receive to all clergy and parishes or to specific people and groups. The Gippsland Anglican and Ad Clerum Updates are produced in-house as well.

The Office also runs the diocesan website and is developing this to focus on providing resources for parishes and information for the wider community. The Registry Office is a great example of what is good about being a diocesan household as very few individual congregations could bring together the resources to do all that is needed on their own. The Registry does a huge amount of work behind the scenes to help and support the mission and ministry of the church in the Anglican Diocese of Gippsland.

Organisaton Structure

The Registrar: Miss Rae Riley

Rae grew up in Gippsland and has lived most of her life in the region. She is an active and longstanding member of the Anglican Church, having served as Treasurer for both the Anglican Parish of Traralgon and the Traralgon South Community Church.

Rae comes from the Community and Public Sector Union, where she has been instrumental in organising campaigns, mentoring teams, advocating for workers, and managing member services, with responsibility for financial oversight and stakeholder engagement.

With over 30 years of professional experience across the legal, government, and non-profit sectors, Rae has developed a strong ability to balance strategic planning with practical problem-solving.

An active volunteer, Rae has dedicated much of her time to serving as Treasurer for local organisations and supporting initiatives that strengthen community connection and wellbeing.

Rae lives in Traralgon, from where she plans to travel to Sale (or wherever needed across the Diocese) daily. She is the proud mum of her 16-year-old son, Liam.

Finance Officer: Mr Joseph Gormally

Joseph Gormally is a member of the Cathedral Parish of Sale and moved to the area as his partner is a pilot with the Royal Australian Air Force.

Born in the United Kingdom, having grown up in rural Ireland, Joe has always played an active role in the local Church; so much so that, when he left school, he spent a year as a seminarian. However, he soon learned his vocation remained in the laity.

Joe first came to Australia in 2022 when the borders in Ireland reopened after Covid. He spent his first two years in Perth as a key accounts manager. His professional background has been in leadership positions in the retail space and often acted in an executive role when directors went overseas.

Areas of Responsibility:

- Payroll
- Accounts
- Parish Invoices,
- Church Bookroom
- Trust and ADF transfers

Clearance Officer: Mrs Julie Lanham

Julie Lanham has been living in Gippsland since 2012. Jules, her husband (Rich) and family moved down from Gilgandra NSW, where they had worked in the community with the Bush Church Aid Society. They came Sale in the first instance to work for the Cathedral Parish on the invitation of their dear friend, the late Bishop John MacIntyre. Rich and Jules worked together at St Paul's with the youth.

Jules came to manage the 123 Café that Rich had birthed as a 'Fresh Expression' of church. The Café was a wonderful place to manage and she is proud of what they were able to accomplish. It helped solidify her thoughts around approaching people with love and kindness, free of judgement, and big on acceptance. And it helped her to practice this - which, of course, is an ongoing learning and relearning...

Jules has a heart for people and a passion for food which combine in a love of sharing life over a meal and is currently studying Commercial Cookery.

Areas of Responsibility:

- Safe ministry and compliance
- Applications for Clearances (Levels 1, 2, and 3)
- Help Desk for Parish Safe Ministry Officers
- Any clearance queries

Bishop's Chaplain: The Reverend David Perryman

Dave was born in Wangaratta and raised in Gippsland. After discerning a call to ministry at a young age, spent 11 years working at KFC, mostly in management, whilst studying at Trinity College and St Mark's, Canberra. He was ordained in 2016 and currently serves part-time as Priest-in-Charge of the Parish of Avon and as Bishop's Chaplain at the Registry Office, roles he has held since February 2017. Dave is also a member of Bishop-in-Council and the Safe Ministry Authority.

He has a deep passion for creative ways of communicating the Gospel, engaging in ministry outreach to the local community, and walking alongside people as they discern where God may be leading them in their journey. He is particularly interested in thoughtful discernment for innovative ways we can 'be' and 'do' church, at both local and Diocesan levels.

In his spare time, Dave enjoys playing cricket, making music, gaming and spending time with his beautiful family.

Areas of Responsibility:

- Bishop's licenses, (clergy and lay)
- Ad Clerums
- Bookings for the Bishop's Diary
- Administration for Diocesan Services
- Diocesan Website

TGA editor & Development Officer: Krista Mountford⁰⁸

Before joining Gippsland Anglicans, Krista worked in the non-profit sector, focusing on events, marketing, and communications. She enjoys collaborating with community-oriented organisations to develop impactful projects and events, and so these two roles are a wonderful combination of her passions and experience.

During this time, she organised various annual charity events, including a Girls Weekend dedicated to women's health and wellness, Christmas hampers and toy drives. She served on the steering committee for the 2021 Baw Baw Soup Kitchen Project, actively participated in the free weekly community meals at the Longwarry Public Hall, and is a member of the Gippsland Emergency Relief Network.

She is a proud parent to two wonderful boys, Connor and Riley, and I am grateful to share this parenting journey with her husband, Andrew, an Auslan Educational Interpreter. They moved to Warragul and have truly embraced the friendly and vibrant community.

Areas of Responsibility:

- Philanthropy and Fundraising
- Communications and Social Media
- TGA enquiries and submissions
- Diocesan Website

Diocesan Archivist: Mr Tim Gibson

Tim is the son of an Anglican Priest and was born in Mt Barker Western Australia.

His family moved to rural Victoria when Tim's father took up the role of parson in Moe and eventually Drouin. Tim has a rich knowledge of the history of the parishes of the Gippsland Diocese and is a incredible resource for any parish seeking historical information.

Areas of Responsibility:

- Queries for Diocesan Archives, parish and diocesan histories
